Announcing MWR RecTrac CUSTOMER TRACKING SYSTEM

MWR Customers - Please note:

The Army has instituted an automated customer usage system for Morale, Welfare, and Recreation called "RecTrac." This management information system has been mandated by the Army MWR Board of Directors to provide better recreation service to our customers by monitoring facility and program usage. Most importantly, RecTrac data will eventually also be used to determine future funding to support these programs.

For you and your family members to continue using MWR Recreation facilities (e.g. Sports & Fitness Centers, Swimming Pools, Crafts Shops, Automotive Shops, Recreation Centers, Community Activity Centers, And Live Theatre); or to participate in MWR programs, you're required to complete a simple one-time RecTrac registration process. There is no fee and it takes less than five minutes for a household to complete. Once registered in RecTrac, customers will need to scan (swipe) their ID cards each time they visit a MWR facility in lieu of using sign in sheets. The RecTrac scanners read the bar codes located on the back of eligible patrons ID cards.

Please support your MWR programs and register now!

Youth bowls his first 300 game.

YONGSAN GARRISON - Yongsan kegger bowls first perfect 300 game. Allen Wagner, a senior at Seoul American High School and regular member of the Yongsan Lanes Youth Bowling League bowled a perfect '300' during league play on 6 May.

Wagner has been a member of the Yongsan Youth Bowling Program for 6 years and averages over 200. His skill has earned him membership in the Junior Gold Bowling Program along with the most elite youth bowlers in the United States and International competitors.

After striking with his first and second balls in the 10th frame, it became quiet in the usually noisy Yongsan Lanes. You could have heard a pin drop. As the remaining ten pins fell under his last strike ball, the bowlers and other observers at Yongsan Lanes erupted in applause and cheering. When asked how he felt Allen responded by simply saying, "Finally!" As an encore Wagner rolled a 223 in his third game for a 699 scratch series.

Wagner represented the Far East Military Zone in the 2005 Junior Gold National Championships in St Louis. Enroute to his appearance at the prestigious 2005 Junior Gold National Championships Wagner swept three major Far East youth events in 2005 at Yongsan Lanes and earned $850 in college scholarships. His Championships include 2005 Korea Youth Masters Champion, 2005 Korea Youth Bowling Championships Champion and 2005 Far East Military Zone Champion.

Yongsan Lanes has Limited Lanes Available during League play! On Wednesday, Friday and Saturday Nights from 1730 - 2030. All open bowling during that time period is based on first come first serve basis and there will be a three game limit per bowler in effect once a waiting list has been established.

Child Development Center

Our goals are to provide quality care for your children through meeting and exceeding all US Army, National, and Federal Guidelines, and to help your child acquire the skills, attitudes, and habits for success in school and throughout life.

We are responsible for the development of the "whole child." We provide opportunities for children to explore their language, social, creative, affective/emotional, cognitive and physical development. We enhance children's development growth by supporting and challenging their interactions with materials, peers, and adults.

We encourage children's development by positive role modeling. We realize that no two children are alike and each child is special with his/her own path of growth. Children are valued as individuals, as well as part of a group. We foster positive self-images by nurturing children's growth in creativity and exploring their capabilities.

The Child Development Program believes that children learn through active participation with their environment. Infants, toddlers, and preschoolers learn about their world through meaningful "hands-on" experiences, which promote active thinking and reasoning. Children learn best by doing. Play provides the foundation for learning; it is children's "work."

Developmentally appropriate activities and practices are implemented in the Child Development Program for all ages of children. Individualized Plans for children are provided so that we may enhance the unique skills of each child and keep them challenged and stimulated.
